

Card Deck of Beginning Principal Situations

New principal is facing a student discipline issue	A clique of teachers has started a whispering campaign hinting that a new principal is racist	A new principal is facing redistricting discontent among parents
Students want to start a club that might be politically controversial within the community.	The county's dress code for teachers has become an issue and one of the teachers is speaking out against it.	The new principal is not worried at all—everything is great!
The new principal is opening a new school and is having issues with operational support.	The new principal cannot get families to attend parent-teacher conferences or afterschool meetings.	A well-liked teacher is a very poor instructor.
The new principal does not know how to develop a budget.	The Board of Education wants to implement a new curriculum that the new principal disagrees with.	Make your own problem up here.

